I can contribute to your organization as a full-stack web developer, leveraging my ability to develop web applications using readily available web frameworks. I finished my degree in Computer Science in one of the top universities in the country, the University of the Philippines. Following my graduation, I have received an intensive training in Tuitt Coding Bootcamp. Added to this professional background is my set of artistic skills. I have worked as creative head in my organizations in college and also served as a graphic artist while studying for a US-based company. With my degree in Computer Science and the love and passion that I have for design and the arts, I am certainly a good fit for the position because I can do both front end and back end development. With this, I will be able to take part in empowering your team with my coding expertise and artistic skills.

ABOUT ME

I enjoy exploring and traveling with the people that I love the most. I also love taking and editing photographs of the moments that I shared with my loved ones. I have been artistic since I was young. I love creating things that are unusual and interesting, something that makes people think, something different. Growing up, I have been told that I was really good at math. I had competed successfully in numerous competitions when I was in elementary and high school. One thing that I learned from solving hundreds of mathematical problems is that there are a number of ways to solve a single problem. The overall process or technique can be different from the other contestants but what is important is the final output. What I love about this is you don't have to follow a certain mold because you can discover or make your own approach. This skill comes very handy when I was studying in college. As a computer science major, I found out that there are no correct process, just correct answers. These skills--creativity and knack for problem-solving--are the strengths that I can bring to my work and your company.
